

Stephen Galowitz
(45)

Mr. Galowitz is Managing Director, Development and Markets. In this role he is responsible for the redevelopment of the two landfill gas projects at Providence and Olinda. In addition, he is involved in government regulations and lobbying at the state and federal level.

Before he joined Ridgewood at the end of 2005, Mr. Galowitz was the founder and president of Delta Pressure Generation Systems, a clean energy company. Delta Pressure Generation Systems pursued the development of innovative energy recovery projects in natural gas pipelines that would harness wasted heat and pressure throughout the gas delivery system.

Prior to founding Delta Pressure Generation Systems, Mr. Galowitz was President of UtiliSave LLC, a leading energy and utility regulatory consulting firm, where he represented many of the nation's largest industrial, commercial and institutional utility end users. Mr. Galowitz began his career as an attorney with the Philadelphia firm, WolfBlock LLC, where he maintained a diverse practice specializing in tax, business and personal planning.

He is an honors graduate of The Harvard Law School, The Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania (Finance), and The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania (Philosophy).
