

Information Request AG-5-1

Request:

Please describe any/all firm contracted upstream pipeline capacity, storage and supply arrangements in support of the proposed ANE project. Please provide a copy of all related materials;

Response:

The Company has not entered into any firm contracted upstream pipeline capacity, storage or supply arrangements in support of the proposed ANE project.

Information Request AG-5-2

Request:

Please describe any/all facility expansions and/or approvals at Federal, State or local levels that may be required to provide any/all firm contracted upstream pipeline capacity, storage and supply

Response:

As provided in the response to Information Request AG-5-1, the Company has not entered into any firm contracted upstream pipeline capacity, storage or supply arrangements in support of the proposed ANE Project.

Information Request AG-5-3

Request:

Please describe any/all costs associated with upstream pipeline capacity, storage and supply that may be included in the proposed Long-Term in Gas Transportation and Storage Contract (LGTSC) Rate.

Response:

The Company is proposing a Capacity Cost Recovery ("CCR") Factor and not a Long-Term Gas Transportation and Storage Contract (LGTCS) Rate. The Company had inadvertently used that terminology in its initial petition.

Please see Company's response to Information Request NEER-2-16 for a description of all costs proposed to be included for recovery through the Company's proposed CCR Factor.

Information Request AG-5-4

Request:

Please explain, based on the responses to (a) -(c) above, how the risk of inadequate, or interruptions of, upstream pipeline capacity, storage and supply is not also a risk factor.

Response:

The question appears to be incomplete and cannot be answered as asked.

Information Request AG-5-5

Request:

Refer to Exhibit NG-TJB/JEA-1, at pages 68-69.

- a. What is the status and expected schedule of FERC approval of the proposed Capacity Release Tariff Amendment?;
- b. Provide all drafts and final documents of the proposed Capacity Release Tariff Amendment;
- c. If FERC does not approve the Algonquin Gas Transmission, LLC's proposed Capacity Release Tariff amendment currently before FERC in RP16-618, please describe the impact that FERC's decision would have on the Company's participation in the ANE project;
- d. Please provide a copy of the program rules for capacity release established by FERC; and
- e. Please explain how the proposed Capacity Release Tariff Amendment proposed in the ANE project differs from the program rules for capacity released established by FERC.

Response:

- a. On February 19, 2016, Algonquin Gas Transmission ("AGT") filed a revised tariff record to its General Terms and Conditions with FERC under Docket No. RP16-618 to be effective on April 1, 2016. On March 31, 2016 FERC accepted and suspended the proposed tariff record, to be effective the earlier of September 1, 2016 or the date specified in a further order of the Commission and set a date for a technical conference. This technical conference occurred on May 9, 2016 with numerous parties attending. Briefs were filed on May 31, 2016 and Reply Briefs were filed on June 10, 2016. FERC now must issue an order on this tariff record by September 1, 2016 or the tariff will go into effect subject to refund.
- b. A copy of the file list for AGT's application to FERC in Docket No. RP16-618 can be accessed at either the FERC's website or at Spectra's website using the following link:

https://linkwc.spectraenergy.com/Regulatory/AGT_2016_0219_Bidding_Requirements_Exemption.pdf

- c. The Company's participation in the ANE Project has one overriding objective, which is to serve the interests of customers by enabling the construction of incremental pipeline capacity to mitigate high and volatile natural gas prices and achieve electric price relief and reliability for electric retail customers. The Company's participation in the ANE Project is contingent upon a number of factors, but most significantly, upon confirmation by the Department that the investment required for construction of incremental pipeline capacity is warranted and appropriate for customers to bear based on a determination that the costs of such investment would be offset by the benefits of the ANE Project. The most direct path to achieve this identified objective is to have a system in place to allow for the release of the incremental pipeline capacity to electric generators that elect to use or maintain access to that capacity. Because the release of interstate pipeline capacity is a FERC-jurisdictional matter, the EDCs view FERC's action to review and approve AGT's proposed tariff amendment as a critical step in putting the pieces in place to further the project objective. FERC action before state approval of the proposed contracts is critically important to the EDCs because the EDCs' expectation is that the state public-utility commissions with jurisdiction over ANE Project contract approval will want to confirm the details of whether and how the capacity will be released into the marketplace, including the process for access to the capacity by electric generators, before granting approval. Thus, a FERC decision to deny the tariff would be an important factor for consideration in state regulatory proceedings and would need to be assessed by each respective state commission as an explicit component of contract approval.
- d. Please see Attachment AG-5-5 for FERC's capacity release program rules, Section 284.8.
- e. The program rules proposed in the ANE Project will be the same as the program rules in Section 284.8 with one exception. The program rules proposed for the ANE Project will contain an additional condition in Section "h" of FERC's Section 284.8 that allows releases that do not have to comply with the bidding requirements of paragraphs (c) through (e), The additional condition will allow prearranged releases only to gas fired generators in the ISO-NE region.

§ 284.8 Release of firm capacity on interstate pipelines.

(a) An interstate pipeline that offers transportation service on a firm basis under subpart B or G of this part must include in its tariff a mechanism for firm shippers to release firm capacity to the pipeline for resale by the pipeline on a firm basis under this section.

(1) Firm shippers must be permitted to release their capacity, in whole or in part, on a permanent or short-term basis, without restriction on the terms or conditions of the release. A firm shipper may arrange for a replacement shipper to obtain its released capacity from the pipeline. A replacement shipper is any shipper that obtains released capacity.

(2) The rate charged the replacement shipper for a release of capacity may not exceed the applicable maximum rate, except that no rate limitation applies to the release of capacity for a period of one year or less if the release is to take effect on or before one year from the date on which the pipeline is notified of the release. Payments or other consideration exchanged between the releasing and replacement shippers in a release to an asset manager as defined in paragraph (h)(3) of this section are not subject to the maximum rate.

(c) Except as provided in paragraph (h) of this section, a firm shipper that wants to release any or all of its firm capacity must notify the pipeline of the terms and conditions under which the shipper will release its capacity. The firm shipper must also notify the pipeline of any replacement shipper designated to obtain the released capacity under the terms and conditions specified by the firm shipper.

(d) The pipeline must provide notice of offers to release or to purchase capacity, the terms and conditions of such offers, and the name of any replacement shipper designated in paragraph (b) of this section, on an Internet web site, for a reasonable period.

(e) The pipeline must allocate released capacity to the person offering the highest rate and offering to meet any other terms and conditions of the release. If more than one person offers the highest rate and meets the terms and conditions of the release, the released capacity may be allocated on a basis provided in the pipeline's tariff, provided however, if the replacement shipper designated in paragraph (b) of this section offers the highest rate, the capacity must be allocated to the designated replacement shipper.

(f) Unless otherwise agreed by the pipeline, the contract of the shipper releasing capacity will remain in full force and effect, with the net proceeds from any resale to a replacement shipper credited to the releasing shipper's reservation charge.

(g) To the extent necessary, a firm shipper on an interstate pipeline that offers transportation service on a firm basis under subpart B or G of this part is granted a limited-jurisdiction blanket certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act solely for the purpose of releasing firm capacity pursuant to this section.

(h)

(1) The following releases need not comply with the bidding requirements of paragraphs (c) through (e) of this section:

(i) A release of capacity to an asset manager as defined in paragraph (h)(3) of this section;

(ii) A release of capacity to a marketer participating in a state-regulated retail access program as defined in paragraph (h)(4) of this section;

(iii) A release for more than one year at the maximum tariff rate; and

(iv) A release for any period of 31 days or less.

(v) If a release is exempt from bidding under paragraph (h)(1) of this section, notice of the release must be provided on the pipeline's Internet Web site as soon as possible, but not later than the first nomination, after the release transaction commences.

(2) When a release of capacity is exempt from bidding under paragraph (h)(1)(iv) of this section, a firm shipper may not roll over, extend or in any way continue the release to the same replacement shipper using the 31 days or less bidding exemption until 28 days after the first release period has ended. The 28-day hiatus does not apply to any re-release to the same replacement shipper that is posted for bidding or that qualifies for any of the other exemptions from bidding in paragraph (h)(1) of this section.

(3) A release to an asset manager exempt from bidding requirements under paragraph (h)(1)(i) of this section is any pre-arranged release that contains a condition that the releasing shipper may call upon the replacement shipper to deliver to, or purchase from, the releasing shipper a volume of gas up to 100 percent of the daily contract demand of the released transportation or storage capacity, as provided in paragraphs (h)(3)(i) through (h)(3)(iii) of this paragraph.

(i) If the capacity release is for a period of one year or less, the asset manager's delivery or purchase obligation must apply on any day during a minimum period of the lesser of five months (or 155 days) or the term of the release.

(ii) If the capacity release is for a period of more than one year, the asset manager's delivery or purchase obligation must apply on any day during a minimum period of five months (or 155 days) of each twelve-month period of the release, and on five-twelfths of the days of any additional period of the release not equal to twelve months.

(iii) If the capacity release is a release of storage capacity, the asset manager's delivery or purchase obligation need only be up to 100 percent of the daily contract demand under the release for storage withdrawals or injections, as applicable.

(4) A release to a marketer participating in a state-regulated retail access program exempt from bidding requirements under paragraph (h)(1)(ii) of this section is any prearranged capacity release that will be utilized by the replacement shipper to provide the gas supply requirement of retail consumers pursuant to a retail access program approved by the state agency with jurisdiction over the local distribution company that provides delivery service to such retail consumers.

Request:

Please refer to Exhibit NG-TJB/JEA-1, page 17.

- a. Who is the owner and operator of the existing Eversource LNG facility in Acushnet, MA?;
- b. Who is title holder to the land on which the existing Eversource LNG facility is located?
- c. Who is title holder to the land on which the proposed LNG facility is to be built?
- d. Please describe the corporate relationship of the owner(s) and operator identified in the Company's response to AG 5-6(a), (b) and (c) to the Company and any other affiliated parties in this proceeding;
- e. Which company provides electric delivery to the existing Eversource LNG facility?;
- f. Is the current electric delivery capacity sufficient to serve the proposed new LNG facility?;
- g. If the Company's answer to AG 5-6(f) is "no", please explain and provide all expected upgrades and cost of upgrades anticipated to the electric delivery system to serve the proposed new LNG facility;
- h. Refer to Company's response to AG 5-6(g). Please explain whether the costs of any upgrades are included in the overall cost of the ANE project;
- i. Refer to Company's response to AG 5-6(g). Explain how the costs of any upgrades will be paid and recovered by ratepayers; and
- j. Refer to Company's response to AG 5-6(g). Please indicate whether any distribution system upgrades will require Department approval(s). If yes, please describe how and when the Company intends to seek Department approval(s).

Response:

The Company does not have the requested information.

Information Request AG-5-7

Request:

Please explain whether the ANE project will be built if the LNG facility is not cited [sic].

Response:

As described in response to Information Request AG 1-28, the ANE project is designed as an integrated project that includes both firm transportation and LNG storage. National Grid cannot speculate on alternatives that may or may not be considered based upon a hypothetical scenario that the LNG facility may not be sited. For a further description of the value of Access Northeast as an integrated solution, please Attachment AG 5-7, the response of Eversource Energy to Information Request AG 5-15 filed in D.P.U. 15-181.

Information Request AG-5-15

Please explain whether the ANE project will be built if the LNG facility is not cited.

Response

To provide maximum flexibility and value for electric generation, the ANE Project is designed as an integrated pipeline and storage service rather than a series of severable project components. The project's unique design combines the expansion of an existing pipeline that is directly connected to the majority of New England's power generators with on-system storage, allowing customers to store natural gas locally in the summer when prices are low and to leverage "quick start" services for the generators' peaking needs in the dead of winter. Further, the 900,000 dth/day integrated proposal is a more efficient design than a pipeline-only solution with the same delivery capacity. The combination of incremental pipeline capacity and storage enables a peak-shaving approach to peak demand days, better matching the needs of the region both economically and environmentally.

Within this context, there is no reason to expect that the current project design will not obtain the requisite siting approval. The Acushnet site was selected as the optimal location for the Access Northeast LNG facility and there is a comprehensive plan in place to get the facility permitted and constructed in a timely manner.

Algonquin conducted a comprehensive LNG site alternatives analysis and is working FERC staff and other stakeholders at this time to review the results of this analysis in the context of the Pre-Filing and NEPA scoping processes. More than 30 sites that meet the minimum siting criteria established for development of the proposed LNG facility were evaluated. The Acushnet site was selected as the most practical and feasible location. Many sites were eliminated from further consideration due to the existence of significant environmental and/or permitting problems that are not susceptible to mitigation. For example, other potential sites are located on Article 97 land or public lands, or the sites have FEMA flood zone limitations and/or similar restrictions. Other alternative sites are located on privately held land but, based on outreach conducted with landowners, are not available for purchase. By comparison, the only significant permitting challenge identified at Acushnet at this stage relates to the potential impacts on the surrounding wetlands, which will be minimized to the extent practicable through refinement and optimization of the site plan. Please refer to our response to AG 2-29 for additional information on the Acushnet site alternatives analysis.

In addition, the Access Northeast LNG facility will be located on lands owned entirely in fee by an affiliate of one of the Project developers. This is a unique circumstance and, as a result, Access Northeast has acquired survey permissions for 100 percent of the proposed Access Northeast LNG facility. This point is important because it means potential environmental impact(s) of the Project at the Acushnet site are readily identifiable, which has allowed Algonquin to begin working on minimizing impacts and developing a plan for impacts that cannot be avoided.

Request:

If the LNG facility will utilize gas-fired turbines to support gas compression and liquefaction, please describe and quantify the anticipated emissions releases from the gas-fired turbines.

Response:

Eversource Energy ("Eversource") is responsible for the specific development, construction, operation and maintenance services related to the ANE project's proposed LNG facility. Therefore, National Grid defers to Eversource on questions regarding the engineering design and operation of the LNG facility. Refer to Company's response to AG 5-9(g). Relying on the Company's assumption that the proposed LNG facility will utilize gas-fired turbines to support gas compression and liquefaction, please describe and quantify the anticipated emissions releases from the gas-fired turbines.

Response

The Project is currently performing front end engineering and design ("FEED") for the proposed LNG facility. As such, the Company cannot, at this stage of the FEED, describe in detail, or quantify, anticipated emissions from equipment that will be utilized at the facility. However, it is clear that the facility will require air permitting pursuant to 310 Code of Massachusetts Regulations ("CMR") 7.00. As facility design efforts progress, equipment selection will enable the Project to quantify anticipated air emissions. Access Northeast will comply with the applicable regulatory requirements noted above, including selection of low emitting equipment, potential mitigation through the use of air control technology, and ultimately a demonstration of no adverse impacts to the community through extensive air dispersion modeling.

Information Request AG-5-9

Request:

Please explain how any costs associated with the siting of the Acushnet LNG facility (e.g. property taxes, lease expenses, employee payroll) will be shared among Class B members of Algonquin Gas Transmission, LLC.

Response:

The costs associated with the siting of the LNG facility will be allocated among the Class B members in proportion to their ownership of the Class B shares of Algonquin Gas Transmission LLC.

Information Request AG-5-10

Request:

At the conclusion of the 20 year ANE precedent agreements, what entity or entities will have the ownership rights to the LNG storage facility? If ownership will remain with the Class B members of AGT, confirm that the ownership interest will be in accordance with their respective percentage member interests.

Response:

The Class B members will continue to own 100 percent of the LNG storage facility in perpetuity and in proportion to their ownership of the Class B shares of Algonquin Gas Transmission LLC.

Request:

Refer to Company's response to AG 5-9(g). Please explain whether cost estimates and capacity requirements for electricity powered equipment for compression and liquefaction have been considered or analyzed as alternatives to the gas-fired turbines. If so produce all documents reflecting that consideration.

Response

Preliminary cost estimates were prepared to assist in comparing several alternative design and technology options for the Access Northeast LNG Facility. Cost was but one factor considered in making such comparisons.

For gas-turbine vs. electric-motor compression solutions, the key consideration was whether an electric-motor solution could be supported by the existing electric distribution system in the area and, if not, what additional system upgrades would be required and at what cost and impact. Based on this evaluation, it was determined that the use of electric motors for compression would result in a total facility electric load of approximately 45 MW. For gas-fired compression, the load requirements are reduced to no more than 15 MW.

Based on an evaluation of the existing electric distribution system, it was determined that the system was incapable of delivering 45 MW to the site and that no distribution system upgrades could be made to meet such a demand. To deliver 45 MW to the site, a Transmission solution would be needed, including a new 115-kV/13.2-kV substation at the LNG Facility, installation of two new 115-kV cables between this new station and the existing New Bedford Industrial Park substation, and other associated system upgrades. The cost of this solution was estimated at $64 million, far in excess of the distribution solution costs for the proposed gas-fired solution. In addition, a transmission solution would also require MA EFSB approvals, and would likely result in additional incremental impact to the environment and the surrounding community.

Request:

Please provide a copy of all financial plans, reports, and projections related to the ANE Project prepared by National Grid.

Response:

As set forth in the Company's response to Information Request AG 1-23, in Massachusetts Electric Company and Nantucket Electric Company, D.P.U. 10-54, Tr. 3 at 486-490 (2010), the Department determined that the disclosure of income projections by non-regulated project developers is not required in a regulatory proceeding for contract approval because it is not relevant to the Department's investigation of whether a proposed resource contract should be approved in the public interest under applicable legal and regulatory standards. The applicable standard of review is whether the proposed contract: (1) results in net benefits for the Massachusetts EDCs' customers at a reasonable cost; and (2) compares favorably to the range of alternatives reasonably available to the EDCs at the time of acquisition of the resource or contract negotiation (e.g., pipeline capacity, local storage, electric transmission). The EDCs must also demonstrate that the price of the resource is competitive and that the contract satisfies other non-price criteria. Accordingly, as National Grid Algonquin LLC is not subject to regulation by the Department, the information sought in this information request is not relevant to the Department's investigation in this proceeding.

Hi Steve

Yes, agreed! Seems like business is done more and more on the phone and via email or IM these days.

Yes, I will be drafting the testimony for the capacity release program and the majority of the remaining sections not related to the pa's.

Friday midday would work? 11am?

Let me know

Eric

Subject: RE: National Grid and Eversource Joint RFP - National Grid Comments

I have incorporated Cindy's edit into the RI version of the RFP (attached) and have added in National Grid's contacts. I don't recall seeing any other edits to the MA Joint RFP between Edna's 3:23PM version yesterday and the final Joint MA RFP sent at 12:11PM today. However, please let me know if I missed an email between those two versions.

Subject: RE: National Grid and Eversource Joint RFP - National Grid Comments

I have incorporated Cindy's edit into the RI version of the RFP (attached) and have added in National Grid's contacts. I don't recall seeing any other edits to the MA Joint RFP between Edna's 3:23PM version yesterday and the final Joint MA RFP sent at 12:11PM today. However, please let me know if I missed an email between those two versions.

Subject: RE: National Grid and Eversource Joint RFP - National Grid Comments

I have incorporated Cindy's edit into the RI version of the RFP (attached) and have added in National Grid's contacts. I don't recall seeing any other edits to the MA Joint RFP between Edna's 3:23PM version yesterday and the final Joint MA RFP sent at 12:11PM today. However, please let me know if I missed an email between those two versions.

In any case, I will assume Jim or John will send a signoff to James/Eversource. I am at an energy event in Boston for the next few hours, but can help if needed later this evening.

Nice work by all to get this ready to go so quickly. It might preserve the possibility of achieving some relief for customers a winter earlier than otherwise possible.

Marcy,
Tim,

Good morning.

Pursuant to our discussion Wednesday evening, I am sending you this notice of our intent to issue the MA and RI RFPs between 10am and 12N today.

If it is your preference for us to wait to hear affirmatively from you prior to issuing the RFPs, please indicate so prior to 10am

Thank you.

John Vaughn

Information Request AG-5-20

Request:

Refer to Exhibit NG-TJB/JEA-1, at pages 29-30, lines 18 and 1-2. Please explain which parts of the project could be placed into service as early as November 2018. For each part, explain why the development of the LNG facilities impacts its placement into service.

Response:

The development of the LNG facilities does not impact the placement into service of any parts of the ANE Project that could be placed into service as early as November 2018. If, after Phase 1 of the ANE Project but before Phase 4 of the ANE Project, the ANE Project provides any interim storage service, then Massachusetts Electric Company d/b/a National Grid ("Massachusetts Electric") will have the right to take such interim storage service according to the terms set forth in the precedent agreement between Massachusetts Electric and Algonquin Gas Transmission LLC, dated January 8, 2016.

Information Request AG-5-21

Request:

Refer to Exhibit NG-TJC/JEA-1, at page 86, lines 7-11.

- a. Please indicate the amounts and respective proportions of total market revenues projected to be obtained from capacity releases and sales from LNG inventory.
- b. Please indicate the amounts and respective proportions of costs that the Company expects to be offset by revenues from capacity releases and the sale of LNG inventory, respectively.

Response:

(a)&(b) The primary reason for the ANE pipeline capacity is to ensure that a reliable supply of natural gas at a reasonable cost is available to electric generators to enable a reduction in the cost of electricity to the Company's retail customers. Given that the ANE capacity produces significant net benefits even without capacity release and LNG margins, any margins from capacity release and sale of LNG serve to further increase the already positive net benefits to customers.

Some of the main variables that will impact the market revenues for LNG sales and the overall capacity release include: the amount of capacity that is ultimately built in New England; the amount of storage capacity released to the generators; the impact of weather variations; and the amount of LNG imported to New England. Colder than normal weather provides the opportunity to generate greater revenues and margins, but even when weather averages to be normal, weather with greater variations can generate greater revenues and margins than normal weather with lesser variability. For example, the winter period could have normal temperatures for an entire winter period but have some very cold days (which generate high margins) as well as much warmer than normal weather with little to no margins. A normal period that includes some very cold weather with offsetting warmer periods would generate greater revenues and margins than a normal winter with less dramatic variability. The amount of imported LNG that is delivered to New England, which is a function of world market LNG prices relative to delivered gas prices in New England, will also impact revenues and margins. All of these factors will fluctuate each year depending on the particular circumstances at that time.

Given the uncertainty of the factors that will determine the value of any sales of LNG, it is unrealistic to assume that the precise value of LNG sales or the proportion of overall revenues that will be collected from the generators and/or marketplace during the term of the agreement can be accurately predicted. The net benefits analysis that was performed by B&V justifies the investment in the ANE capacity infrastructure for New England electric customers absent any offsetting revenues from generators as capacity release or off system sales. As a result, the net benefit analysis that has been submitted is a conservative calculation of the benefits.

Request:

Please provide details regarding all steps that National Grid took to ensure that there would be separation, both physical and from a communications standpoint, between the National Grid Business Development Team and the National Grid Evaluation Team.

Response:

The Company has previously provided this information. Please see Exhibit NG-TJB/JEA-1 at pp. 50-53, and Exhibits AG-1-13, AG-1-13(a), AG-1-13(b) and AG-1-13(c), for discussion and information regarding the steps National Grid took to ensure that there would be separation between the Business Development Team and the Evaluation Team.

Response:

Please see Attachment AG-5-24 for the Company's gas supply procurement policy.

National Grid and Eversource Energy began to compile a joint RFP in October 2015. In doing so, they relied upon their respective experience and expertise for supply and capacity contracting, guided by the various state decisions issued to date relating to this regional initiative.

Acquisition of Long-Term Supply and Pipeline Capacity

1. Document Objective

The process outlined in this procedure is to be used by National Grid's representatives to ensure that the necessary steps are taken regarding the acquisition of Long-Term Gas Supply and Pipeline Capacity and to ensure that all contracts, transaction confirmations, asset management arrangements and portfolio management agreements are approved, executed and entered into the Energy Procurement ("EP") Gas Transaction System (the "Transaction System"), the EP Contract Management System (the "Contract Management System") and other applicable systems.

2. Function

The function of this procedure is to enable National Grid's active management to be made aware of the needs of its gas portfolios, arrange for the necessary approvals to obtain the additional gas supply and pipeline capacity, follow the documented procedure to acquire the Long-Term Gas Supply and Pipeline Capacity and enter all deals relating to the acquisition of Long-Term Gas Supply and Pipeline Capacity in the Transaction System (to allow them to be tracked, valued and billed accurately) and the Contract Management System.

10. Overview Process Description

The procedure provides a structured process to take the necessary steps to enter into transactions in order to meet the long-term gas supply and pipeline capacity needs of National Grid’s LDCs and to ensure that those transactions are approved, executed and tracked in accordance with all Company requirements and entered into all required systems.

11. Detailed Process Description

See Sections 11.1, 11.2 and 11.3.

11.1. Approval Process for Acquisition of Long-Term Gas Supply and Pipeline Capacity

- Upon receipt of a request from EP’s Gas Supply Planning area for the acquisition of long-term gas supply and/or pipeline capacity, the Director will determine if approval is required by the EP Risk Management Committee (“EPRMC”) and/or the Commodity Management Committee (“CMC”). The guidelines are set forth in EPRMC 003A – Appendix A – “Delegation of Authority”.
- Decisions to acquire long term supply or transportation agreements (longer than one year) shall be supported by documentation that includes: specification of need, identification of options considered, assumptions, results of analyses, discussion of rate impacts, and a recommended decision that is supported by model outputs, emails, and other supporting items to be saved on the designated shared drive. If committee approvals are required, a written request will be prepared by the Director, the Contract Manager or the Regulatory Manager which will be presented to the EPRMC or the CMC at the next scheduled meeting. Written requests shall include supporting documentation set forth above for the proposed supply or capacity arrangement. Such documentation and the underlying analysis shall be compiled/performed jointly by the Gas Supply Planning and FERC Compliance & Contracting areas.

- In addition, all long-term gas supply transactions that include an Asset Management Arrangement, as defined by FERC, will be sent to the EP FERC Compliance Committee and the EP Deal Approval Committee by the Contract Manager to obtain approval from those Committees as outlined in the EP FERC Gas Compliance Procedure on Capacity Release and other Gas Transactions.

11.2. Acquisition of Long-Term Gas Supply

11.2.1. RFP and Selection Process

- After all necessary approvals are obtained, the Director begins the process to acquire the additional long-term gas supply by the drafting and issuing of a Request for Proposals ("RFP"). The RFP contains specific details regarding the acquisition of long-term gas supply, including delivery periods, quantity, receipt and delivery points, asset management and portfolio management arrangements (if required), a schedule to allow for questions presented by bidders and responses by National Grid, a deadline for receipt of proposals and award of proposals. The RFP may also include a draft transaction confirmation setting forth the Company's proposed contract provisions. The Regulatory Manager shall maintain templates for certain types of transactions that are typically executed. Whenever possible, these templates should be used as the starting point for new RFPs.
- The Contract Manager maintains and updates an RFP Recipient List which contains the names of the counterparties authorized to receive and participate in National Grid's RFP process. The basic requirements for inclusion on this list are: (1) that the counterparty has executed a base agreement for the purchase/and or sale of natural gas with the applicable gas distribution company (usually a North American Energy Standards Board, Inc. Base Contract for Sale and Purchase of Natural Gas ("NAESB") or an International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. Master Agreement ("ISDA") with a Gas Annex) and (2) that the counterparty has demonstrated reliable performance in the short-term gas markets.

FERC Compliance & Contracting
January 23, 2014

- The final RFP, including any exhibits thereto, is forwarded via email by the Contract Manager to the counterparties listed on the RFP Recipient List.
- The Contract Manager is responsible for compiling all questions received from prospective bidders, obtaining responses from various members of EP, and forwarding all questions and responses to the counterparties listed on the RFP Recipient List.
- The Contract Manager is responsible for the tracking of all proposals received.
- Upon the receipt of all proposals, a meeting is held by the Director, the Contract Manager, the Regulatory Manager, the relevant Gas Planning Manager(s) and analysts to review the proposals received and select the best proposal(s).
- Upon selection of the best proposal(s), the Director, Contract Manager or the Gas Planning Manager will telephone the winning bidder(s) to award the RFP.
- The Contract Manager contacts those bidders who were not awarded to thank them for their proposal.
- If not already included in the RFP, a draft of the contract, agreement or transaction confirmation outlining the long-term gas acquisition will be prepared by the Regulatory Manager and Legal Department. The Regulatory Manager, in consultation with the Director, shall negotiate the final form of transaction confirmation and the Contract Manager shall coordinate the approval process, execution process and system entry process.
- The Contract Manager is responsible for arranging for the execution of the final document and forwarding it to the counterparty, the EP Risk Management Department and Accounting Services.

11.2.2. Deal Entry

- Middle Office Spreadsheet - The Contract Manager is responsible for entering the new long-term gas supply deals into EP's Risk Management Department's Middle Office Spreadsheet for the LDC that has acquired the long-term gas supply. The Middle Office Spreadsheet is broken down into quarters for each of National Grid's LDCs. The information provided consists of the particular LDC, the counterparty, the date of the deal, the person responsible for entering into the deal, the start and completion dates ("delivery period"), the pipeline involved, the quantity, pricing information, EP's Transaction System Deal number and any other significant terms, i.e., optimization payments, call options, peaking deals, no-notice service, etc.

- Transaction System - The Regulatory Manager is responsible for entering the executed contract, or transaction confirmation into EP's Transaction System.
- Contract Management System - The Contract Manager is responsible for entering the executed contract, agreement or transaction confirmation into the Contract Management System by following the Standard Operating Procedure set forth for Gas Contract Management.

11.3. Acquisition of Pipeline Capacity

- Upon consultation with the Gas Supply Planning Director, the Director will contact the specific pipeline(s) to advise of the need for additional pipeline capacity. If applicable, the Director will oversee National Grid's participation in the pipeline open season process and submit necessary requests for service.
- If National Grid and the pipeline determine to proceed with a project, the Director, along with Legal and other internal resources, will negotiate a Precedent Agreement, setting forth the parties' respective rights and responsibilities.
- The Precedent Agreement is a binding agreement that sets forth the terms and conditions under which the pipeline would seek the necessary financing arrangements, FERC regulatory approvals and authorizations for the construction of the new project or expansion of the pipeline's existing mainline. The Precedent Agreement may also set forth conditions that must occur prior to National Grid's obligation to proceed with the project ("Conditions Precedent").
- Subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the Precedent Agreement, upon occurrence of the Conditions Precedent, the pipeline and National Grid will execute a Service Agreement under the FERC rate schedule set forth in the Precedent Agreement.
- The Contract Manager is responsible for coordinating receipt of all required internal approvals (CMC, EPRMC, etc.) arranging for the execution of the final Precedent Agreement, and entering one copy into the Contract Management System by following the Standard Operating Procedure set forth for Gas Contract Management.

- Upon entry into the Contract Management System, the Precedent Agreement is tracked by the Contract Manager through a Monthly Activity Report, in order to determine deadlines for Conditions Precedent to be met. See Standard Operating Procedure for Gas Contract Management for usage of the Contract Database Monthly Activity Report.
- Upon occurrence of all Conditions Precedent set forth in the Precedent Agreement having been met, the National Grid LDC ("Shipper") and the pipeline will typically execute a Service Agreement, the terms of which are set forth in the Precedent Agreement.
- The Contract Manager will forward a copy of the executed Service Agreement to EP's trading manager and to the Regulatory Manager for entry into the Transaction System.
